Davey Orders Highway Department Probe

JASTER CALLED HOME TO START INVESTIGATION

Charges That Estimates On Bids Have Been "Padded" Hurdled

GOVERNOR IN STATEMENT

Executive Wants to Know "Whole" Truth

COLUMBUS, Oct. 1—(UP)—Governor Martin L. Davey today ordered a dual investigation of reports that highway department estimates on which bids are based had been "padded".

Announcing that he is "deeply concerned" over the reports, Gov. Davey summoned Highway Director John Jaster, Jr., back from a convention in Boston to make his own investigation.

The governor also stated he would make "an independent and thorough investigation on my own account through outside sources."

"I want to know the whole truth," the governor said. "Whatever action the facts warrant will be vigorous and complete. I shall do a thorough job which will merit the confidence and approbation of the public."

Statement Quoted

The governor's statement follows:

"News reports about certain alleged bad practices in the highway department concern me very deeply. The public is entitled to know what our course of procedure will be.

"I have full confidence in the integrity of the director of highways and have called him back from the national convention of highway officials in Boston. He will make a searching investigation on his own account to ascertain all the facts.

"This is not enough, however. I propose to make an independent and thorough investigation on my own account through outside sources. I want to know the whole truth, as a basis for appropriate action. Whatever action the facts warrant will be vigorous and complete. I will tolerate nothing in the state government that is not

Lynn Black Directs Hunt For Conn Killers

Two Cattle Buyers Tell Highway Patrol They Saw Murdered Man, Suspects

CADIZ, Oct. 1—(UP)—Col. Lynn Black, head of the Ohio highway patrol, came here today to direct the search for three men seen talking to Highway Patrolman George A. Conn shortly before he was murdered near Freeport last Monday.

Two Barnesville cattle buyers, William Harris and Don Whittaker, said they passed Conn as he stood beside a gray Ford sedan talking excitedly with the three men. They said they remarked at the time that the driver's face was so white.

Edwin Bach, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bach, S. Court street, was elected president of the senior class of Circleville high school, Thursday, when all classes conducted their annual meetings.

Frank Barnhill, Jr., who headed the sophomore class last year, was chosen again by his class, now in its junior year.

Robert Bowsher and Frank Woodward, members of the football squad, were chosen president of the sophomore and freshman classes, respectively.

LEVIATHAN, ONCE QUEEN OF MARINE, TO BE REPLACED

NEW YORK, Oct. 1—(UP)—The U. S. liner Leviathan, once proud queen of the American merchant marine, was condemned to the scrap heap today.

The 950-foot, 54,500-ton vessel, which has "n" tied up since September, 4, in Hoboken, N. J., will be replaced by a $15,750,000 fireproof, safety-equipped passenger and cargo ship which the U. S. Maritime commission said "will be the finest and safest liner on the seas."

Officials of the United States lines had debated for months the fate of the Leviathan, and had rejected scores of proposals. These included her transfer to Puerto Rico as a floating hotel, to South America as a "good-will" messenger, to Florida as a floating gambling house. Some suggested that she be made an exhibit at the 1939 World's Fair, others that she be used as a training ship for merchant marine personnel.

It was decided finally that bids would be asked today in the United States and foreign countries for the scrapping of the 24-year-old liner, once the world's largest ship, which was christened the Vaterland when she slid down the ways in Hamburg, Germany, in April, 1913.

MISCONDUCT IN ELSEA DAMAGE TRIAL ALLEGED

Alleged false testimony, introduced during the $22,786 damage suit of Mrs. Asa Elsea against the Benedict Transportation Lines, of Columbus, was made the basis of a motion for a new trial, filed Friday in Common Pleas court.

The new trial plea was filed by attorneys for the transportation company, against which a jury on September 18 made a damage award of $5,666.66.

Mrs. Elsea's suit was the result of an auto-truck collision in March of 1936 in which her husband, John McCrady and Bernard Dowden were killed.

NATION TO HEAR BLACK EXPLAIN K. K. K. CHARGES

High Court Justice Goes On Radio at 9:30 P. M. To Discuss Stand

THREE COURSES OPEN

President to Listen on Railroad Car

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—(UP)—Justice Hugo L. Black will make his nationally-broadcast radio address tonight from the residence of Claude E. Hamilton, Jr., assistant general counsel of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—(UP)—Justice Hugo L. Black worked in secret today on the history-making radio address he will deliver tonight in defense of charges that he held a life membership in the Ku Klux Klan when he subscribed to the oath of an associate justice of the supreme court.

The utmost care was being exercised to prevent any "leak" of the contents of the speech before it is broadcast over the combined network of the National and Mutual radio systems at 9:30 p. m. Even radio officials had waived their usual request to see a copy of the speech before the broadcast, and it was believed unlikely that texts would be given to newspaper correspondents until after delivery.

Place Uncertain

The place of the broadcast also had not been revealed. Close associates of Black hinted that it would be announced "sometime" today. Late this morning, however, officials of the broadcasting companies did not know whether it would be made from Alexandria, Va., where the Blacks (Continued on Page Two)

COLUMBUS, Oct. 1—(UP)—State meteorologist John G. Fisher dug into dusty files today in an effort to explain the mild temperature Ohioans have experienced during the past week and then promised more warm days with the arrival of Indian Summer.

"We've had mild temperature the past few days," Fisher said, "but contrary to the belief of many people Indian summer has not arrived yet. There's no real scientific reason for the uncommonly warm days at this time of the year."

From the yellowed pages of a 1902 issue of the "Monthly Weather Review" Fisher set forth some data on Indian summer.

The weather man said the first known reference to it was in 1794, but that the expression did not come into common usage until the 19th century. Early American colonists originated the expression, but the condition isn't one that is peculiar to this continent.

Similar periods occur in other countries, Fisher said. In Scotland, the meteorologist related, they are known as Go-Summer; in England as St. Martin's summer; in Germany as St. Dennis' summer and in Wales as St. Luke's summer.

CONTACT HINTED IN CHICAGO CASE

G-Men Active at Home of Abductors' Victim

CHICAGO, Oct. 1—(UP)—Intense activity by G-men hinted today that a contact might have been established with the kidnapers of Charles E. Ross, retired valetine manufacturer.

Six federal agents were seen at the Ross apartment, where Mrs. Ross was waiting for instructions from the kidnapers. Among them was reported Earl Connelley, crack kidnap case investigator.

Department of justice offices previously announced they would not take active part in the case until a week had elapsed after the kidnapping, or unless interstate communications were employed to demand ransom. Ross was kidnaped six days ago.

Investigators refused to say whether contact had been established, but said they hoped for an important "break" in the case shortly.

They prepared for a long investigation, however, with announcement that unless the case broke within a few days they would issue 100,000 descriptive circulars to police headquarters all over the nation.

A flurry of excitement in Chicago over discovery of the body of a well-dressed murder victim near Valparaiso, Ind., subsided when the man was identified as George Morris, 45, Gary, Ind., hotel and tavern owner. It was feared at first the body might be Ross'.

NATIONALISTS MAY SEEK DEATH FOR ILLINOIS AIRMAN

SALAMANCA, Spain, Oct. 1—(UP)—The death penalty will be demanded for Harold E. Dahl, of Champaign, Ill., Loyalist prisoner of the nationalists, it was reported today.

Dahl will face a court martial for the second time on Oct. 5 with several Russian aviators on charges of rebellion.

The contemplated action by the prosecution came as a surprise inasmuch as an aide of Generalissimo Francisco Franco virtually assured Dahl's wife a week ago that her husband's life would be spared.

It was pointed out, however, that the American aviator still could be pardoned by Franco even though he was convicted.

Sources informed of the prosecution's contemplated action said that reports concerning Dahl's release in an exchange of prisoners between the nationalists and Loyalists were "journalistic fancies." They said that the question of his exchange had not been raised.

PACKERS CLAIM PRICE OF MEAT TO BE REDUCED

CHICAGO, Oct. 1—(UP)—Meat prices will drop by the end of the year, the Institute of American Meat Packers predicted today.

Recent high prices for both pork and beef resulted from scarcity of feed corn, an institute spokesman said. He pointed out this year's was a bumper corn crop, "and as the increasing supply of choice, well-fattened steers reaches the market, retail prices will go down."

HUNDREDS TAKE PART IN FASHION REVUE, THURSDAY

Hundreds gathered at the courthouse Thursday night for the awarding of 51 prizes furnished by merchants who participated in the Fall Fashion Revue, sponsored by the Retail Merchants Assn.

CHILLICOTHE MAN KILLED AS TRUCK HITS BANK, BURNS

MANSFIELD, O., Oct. 1—(UP)—Joseph Bigler, 45, of Chillicothe, O., was burned to death 13 miles south of here today when his truck left the highway as he was passing another truck, struck an embankment and burst into flames.

R. G. Flee, also of Chillicothe, riding with Bigler, was seriously injured and was brought to General hospital here.

Robert Ness, 33, of Columbus, whose truck Bigler had tried to pass, said the steering apparatus on Bigler's vehicle apparently broke, causing the truck to swerve off the road.

Ness and other motorists attempted to remove Bigler from the truck but were blocked by the intense heat.

Flee was thrown out of the car as the truck dropped back to the highway from the embankment.

JAPANESE SAY WAR TO GO ON TO BITTER END

Nation to Pursue Own Its Course Against Nanking Policy

CRUISER IN LINE OF FIRE

Sailors on Augusta Fear Below Decks

SHANGHAI, Oct. 1—(UP)—The United States cruiser Augusta was in line of fire again today as Chinese airplanes bombed the vicinity of the Japanese airport at Yangtsoo, across the Whangpoo river from the city.

The planes drew a 10-minute furious anti-aircraft fire, which sent the sailors on the Augusta scrambling below decks from their movie show.

TOKYO, Oct. 1—(UP)—Japan, in a major statement of policy, announced today that she would brook no interference in China and was determined to pursue her own course "to the bitter end."

By implication, the statement of policy constituted a blanket reply not only to protests of governments against Japan's war methods but a rejection in advance of any action that might be taken by international agreement.

The statement left no room for doubt that Japan is convinced her course is justified and that she will maintain it in face of whatever pressure or opposition she is called on to meet.

Mediation Scouted

The government made the statement through a foreign office spokesman. It rejected unqualifiedly the idea of any effort to mediate at this stage of hostilities. It affirmed Japan's intention to fight until China alters her alleged anti-Japanese policy.

"If any power desires to associate itself with China," the spokesman warned, "it is entirely welcome to do so. Only let it beware of China's mendacious propaganda."

Referring to a statement by Lord Cranbourne, Great Britain's delegate at the League of Nations meetings in Geneva, that the Chinese-Japanese situation was of serious concern to outside powers, the spokesman said:

"He was hinting, we suppose, at the necessity or desirability of convening a conference of powers interested in affairs in the Pacific basin."

"We desire to make it clear that

U.A.W. CHIEFTAIN DENIES POINTING PISTOL AT AIDE

DETROIT, Oct. 1—(UP)—Homer Martin, youthful gun-flourishing president of the United Automobile Workers of America, reversed himself today and said that when he denied poking a revolver in the ribs of a union member "I was only kidding."

Martin jabbed a revolver into the ribs of Daniel Gallagher yesterday after a union delegation had kicked on the door of Martin's hotel room demanding an audience. Eyewitnesses to the episode testified to Martin's embarrassment on discovery that the "invaders" were his own henchmen, but despite this, he issued a categorical denial of his association with firearms.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS RUE ICE CREAM CONE THEFT

TOPEKA, Kans., Oct. 1—(UP)—Two high school students who took ice cream cones from the school cafeteria and tried to smuggle them out in their trousers' pockets were reformed today.

W. N. Van Slyck, school principal, saw them put the cones in their pockets and try to get by the cashier. He led the youths to a high desk, made them put their hands on top of it, and stand in that position until all the ice cream had melted and trickled down their legs.

ATTENTION TO HEAR BLACK EXPLAIN K. K. K. CHARGES

have been living since their return from Europe, from one of the broadcasting studios, from Black's office in the new $11,500,000 supreme court building, or from a more secluded place.

No well guarded were Black's movements that not until late last night was it learned that he had worked on the final draft all day and most of the evening at the offices of the reconstruction finance corporation in downtown Washington where Mrs. Black's brother-in-law, Clifford J. Burn, is employed as an attorney.

It was believed that in addition to Durr, other close friends associated with the administration were assisting Black in the preparation of the unprecedented document. It was considered more than likely that the justice would return to the R.F.C. offices today to make any last minute revisions.

As the scheduled hour for the address neared, millions throughout the nation and world speculated over what answer Black will make to the allegations. Capital observers, convinced that Black will give a direct answer to the charges published while he was vacationing in Europe, were agreed that probably, in effect, he would make one of three statements:

1. That he does belong to the Klan by virtue of a life membership "pass."

2. That he does not belong now, and never did.

3. That he does not belong now, but did at one time.

Record to be Traced

These observers also believed that whichever answer Black made he also would cite his record in national affairs since election as a senator in 1926 to refute charges that he is unfit to serve as a member of the Nation's court of last resort.

Irrespective of what is said by the 51-year-old justice, around whom rages one of the most bitter controversies in the country's history, radio officials already had classified the address as one of the most outstanding and dramatic ever to be broadcast. They ranked it in importance to those delivered by President Roosevelt, King Edward VIII's abdication address, and major addresses by Dictators Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini.

Many to Listen

They also predicted that more radios would be tuned in at the scheduled hour than for any previous address, including President Roosevelt's early "fireside chats." Estimates on the probable audience ranged from 30,000,000 to 50,000,000 persons.

The radio chains cancelled previously scheduled programs for the half hour period which will come at the "best radio time" in the day—when easterners are at their firesides and westerners at dinner. Official said Black did not plan to use the entire 30 minutes, but probably at least 20 minutes.

Interest in the speech was heightened by the fact that never before had a justice of the supreme court made a radio speech of the type expected tonight. On only a few occasions have any of the justices ever spoken over the radio and then it was always a routine formal address.

Meanwhile it was denied that Black had conferred with President Roosevelt in the Far West by telephone before deciding to give his answer to the people by radio. Associates of Black, and Marvin McIntyre, White House secretary, said that the president had not talked with Black since his return.

Time Required
"It will take a little time to make the kind of investigation which is called for and to get the facts in provable form. I shall do a thorough job that will merit the confidence and approbation of the public."

"It would be neither just nor ethical to pre-judge anyone nor to assume any wrong-doing unless and until the proof is established. We will let the result of our action in the near future speak for itself."

The newspaper articles to which the governor referred purported to show that:

1. There is no real competition among contractors bidding on certain jobs.

2. Estimates on which bids are based have been inflated as much as 40 percent.

3. Bids often have been only one-fifth of one percent below these estimates.

4. At some lettings, the work apparently has been passed around, all contractors participating in the bidding.

Governors of Southern States Seek Industries

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—(UP)—Governors of nine southeastern states today launched a $100,000 nationwide advertising campaign designed to speed industrial development of states below the Mason-Dixon line.

The program, begun with advertisements in national magazines and designed later to be augmented by displays in daily newspapers, represents the first step in an advertising program with an eventual annual budget of $250,000.

Lawrence W. Robert Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., industrial consultant for the governors' conference, said chief executives of North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana have pledged full co-operation in the drive for industrialization of Dixie.

The contemplated annual budget of $250,000, combined with funds provided previously by individual legislatures for small-scale programs, Robert said, will mean annual expenditure of more than half a million dollars for advertising industrial advantages of the south.

Until comparatively recent years, the nine states involved in the drive were economically dependent on agriculture and virtually upon one crop—cotton.

Several southern states, led by Mississippi, have launched aggressive campaigns to bring industries south for utilization of large supplies of raw materials, cheap power, lower production costs and capital investments and excellent transportation facilities, Robert said.

CANADA REAPS LOWEST WHEAT CROP SINCE '14

OTTAWA, Ont. (UP)—Canada's 1937 wheat crop, ravaged by the worst drought in history, will be the smallest in 23 years.

The Dominion bureau of statistics, in its first crop estimate, forecasts that the harvest this year will be approximately 188,191,000 bushels, compared with 229,218,000 bushels in 1936.

The 1937 crop, although approximately 30,000,000 bushels higher than earlier estimates, will be the lowest since 1914 when a crop of 161,000,000 bushels was harvested from an acreage only four-tenths the size of the 1937 acreage.

JAPANESE SAY WAR TO GO ON TO BITTER END

Nation to Pursue Own
Its Course Against
Nanking Policy

We do not think mediation is called for at the present stage. We also want to say explicitly that we are determined to fight to the bitter end until China reconsiders her attitude drastically and alters her anti-Japanese policy. We will, therefore, unswervingly and unflinchingly—although with regret—pursue our settled policy.

"If any power wants to mediate it must first acquire full appreciation of our aims and aspirations. We think the setting up of an international committee, or the calling of a conference of Pacific powers, to deal with the Chinese-Japanese conflict is not opportune, to say the least, at the present juncture."

"If the proposed committee or conference were to show as complete lack of appreciation of the realities of the actual situation as was manifested by the recent denunciation of Japanese aviation by the League of Nations advisory committee, we must say that all efforts at conciliation are bound to be futile."

"Such steps, taken on the basis of tendentious news, would but make more difficult a constructive and lasting settlement, for which we all hope."

"Japan is not bent on destroying China but on doing away with elements which are disrupting peace. These elements have today allied themselves with the greatest element of world perturbation, the Communists."

ILLINOIS BUILDS PAGEANTRY ON LINCOLN'S LIFE

Rise in State Politics To Be Celebration Theme At Springfield

TO START ON OCT. 22

Many Scenes To Be Depicted
During Observance

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 1 — (UP)—One hundred years ago a young lawyer in the Illinois legislature executed a series of adroit maneuvers and pushed through a bill to move the state capital from Vandalia to Springfield.

The youthful legislator, a lanky, 28-year-old attorney who practiced law in New Salem, was Abraham Lincoln.

Springfield will commemorate his action and not the passing of a century since it became the state capital in a five-day centennial celebration beginning Oct. 22.

The centennial program will include a series of pageants, one depicting the life of Lincoln, another portraying the history of the city, and one showing the city's spiritual development.

The Lincoln drama will open with a prologue in Kentucky showing the marriage of Thomas Lincoln to Nancy Hanks. Events of their son's life then will be portrayed with his ill-fated courtship of Ann Rutledge and his election to the state legislature.

Pageant Through Years
Other scenes show him moving to Springfield, marrying Mary Todd in 1842, and his action on the night of his election to the Presidency.

The following scene will show him in his farewell address to the people of Springfield when he said, "To this place and to the kindness of these people, I owe everything."

The drama will end in an allegorical tableau after a scene portraying the shocked, grief-stricken city the morning after the assassination in Washington.

Lincoln had moved to Springfield soon after the legislature made it the state capital and remained there until he became President in 1861 on the eve of the Civil War.

The first Illinois state capital stood at Kaskaskia when Illinois entered the Union, but in 1820 it was moved to an uninhabited spot on the Kaskaskia river and the prospective capital city was named Vandalia.

First Site Not Popular
Legislators expected the state to derive considerable income from sale of land in the new town but it failed to attract population.

Further, it gained a reputation for being unhealthy and provided poor accommodations for the lawmakers.

In 1834 the legislature decided to select a new capital city by a popular vote, but balloting was apathetic and three cities nearly tied. The legislature refused to act after the close vote.

Lincoln wanted the capital at Springfield and set out to bargain with the state representatives.

Most of the other cities and counties primarily were concerned at the time with tapping state funds for appropriations to aid construction of internal improvements—canals and railroads.

Lincoln believed Springfield's transportation problems automatically would be solved by selection of the city as capital and he enlisted the other eight representatives from the county to support him.

Log-Rolling Tactics
He then promised other legislators the nine votes from Sangamon county for state aid appropriations to their constituencies. In return he asked repeal of the law to select a capital city by popular vote and election of Springfield.

The first law was repealed and another substituted to name the city by majority of the house of representatives. Springfield led on the first ballot and received a majority on the fourth.

By those "log-rolling" tactics, Springfield became the state capital, 16 years after Sangamon county commissioners drove a stake in the ground near Springfield creek and designated the spot as the county seat.

Lincoln moved from the nearby town of New Salem to Springfield six weeks later and entered a law practice in the new capital.

TRAILER HOMES GROW 10-FOLD IN TWO YEARS

DENVER (UP)—The automobile trailer soon may carry new relief problems for the nation in humbler editions than the present day deluxe models, according to Earl M. Kouns, director of the state welfare department.

Kouns has urged county welfare workers to study trends in the "growth" of trailer migration on the theory that the trailers may soon be a definite factor in adding to the Colorado relief problem.

"America is taking to trailers, and while most of those listed in surveys at the present time are owned by vacationers who are in the higher economic bracket, the indigent or near indigent soon may be on trailer wheels," Kouns said.

He cited statistics showing the increase in the number of trailers in the nation from 20,000 in 1935 to more than 200,000 this year.

"It is estimated that a million persons are living in trailers the year round. Two expert observers have estimated that within 20 years the trailer will be housing from 30 to 50 percent of the population of the country."

While indigent trailer families are not a problem to Colorado at present, Kouns said there is a definite threat that they may become a serious problem in the future unless care is exerted in guarding against a wholesale influx.

VOICE ...of the... PEOPLE

Anniversary of the Birth of America's Great Educator
William Holmes
McGuffey

LEST WE FORGET, and for the edification of his admirers the world around, I am typing this remembrance on the morning of September 28, 1937, exactly one hundred and thirty-seven years since the natal morn of WILLIAM HOLMES MCGUFFEY whose mental and moral influence in the domain of practical and popular education, has outlasted that of any other American educator.

In addition to his eminent qualifications as a teacher, are to be added those of a preacher and author. He is said to have preached more than 3000 sermons without writing out a single one or by any use of notes. He compiled a series of readers, first to sixth, the most efficient and popular ever constructed. Millions of these books have been published and sold in every state in the Union are to be found men and women of the first or second generation whose substantial and worth-while citizenship, have a back-ground of the Little Red School House and McGuffey influence.

That the origin of such a character may not be lost sight of, I may be permitted for the thousandth time to repeat his chronological beginning. He was born September 28, 1800 in Washington county, Pennsylvania. His parents were both Scotch. While yet he was a babe the parents moved to the wilderness of Ohio. Here he grew up. In this state he was educated. He shared in the hardships of pioneer life. In a log school house, he laid the foundation of an education. From the log school house he graduated into a modest academy. Thence into Washington College from which he graduated in 1826. His first important job was professor of ancient languages, Miami university, Oxford, Ohio. He became president of Cincinnati college in 1836 and president of Ohio university, Athens in 1839. In 1845, he became a member of the faculty of Thomas Jefferson's university of Virginia where he spent the remaining 27 years of his most valuable and gifted life. He lay down to the sleep eternal, May 4, 1873, full of years of honor and profit.

Thousands of the older McGuffeyites who still live and reminisce, take delight in repeating from memory, scores of Reader lessons. For fully 50 years of my own life, I have, now and then, coaxed myself to sleep by repeating over and over again, such lessons as "The Voice of Spring," (Springtime); "The Old Oaken Bucket" or "The Town Pump"; (Summertime); "The Melancholy Days" (Falltime); and "It Snows, Cried the School Boy," for (Wintertime). In a little more than a month, now, we shall be repeating Bryant's immortal lines—

"The melancholy days are come,
The saddest of the year;
Of wailing winds and naked woods,
Of meadows brown and sear,
Heaped in the hollows of the groves,
The withered leaves lie dead;

Where are the flowers, the fair young flowers
That lately sprang and stood
In brighter light and softer airs,
A beauteous sisterhood;
Alas, they all are in their graves;

The rain is falling where they lie,
But the cold November rain,
Calls not from out the gloomy earth,
These lovely ones again.

SAFE HIGHWAY

BELLAIRE, O. (UP)—Federal Avenue is surely the "ideal" street. Bordering the north side of the postoffice here, it has no vehicle traffic, no parking space, no traffic lights or problems and is 100 percent safe for children's play. Two families live there. The avenue is 50 yards long and 32 inches

ST. PAUL LINED WITH TUNNELS DOWN TO 75 FT.

ST. PAUL (UP)—Subterranean passages surpassing those of the catacombs of Rome lie beneath the streets of St. Paul, according to George M. Shepard, city engineer.

The honeycomb of tunnels underlying the downtown district is made possible by an unusual geologic formation, Shepard said.

The tunnels were constructed for use by utilities and sewer facilities.

About one-half of the loop district is underlain by a layer of limestone 8 to 12 feet thick, covered only by 2 feet of earth. Directly beneath this limestone is the deep St. Peter sandstone formation which is easily tunneled and remains for long periods without lining except in sewers and heat mains.

The tunnels, Shepard said, lie from 20 to 75 feet beneath the surface of the street. In many cases they are communicating.

The topmost layer of tunnels—about 20 feet beneath the surface—is used by the St. Paul water department. Twenty feet beneath them are the tunnels of a telephone company.

At increasing depths of about 10 feet are passages used by a power company and the St. Paul city railway company. Deepest tunnel system of them all is that of the large sanitary sewer interceptor, approximately 75 feet down.

Most of the utility tunnels are from 2.5 to 3.5 feet wide, and arch to 6 or 7 feet in height.

SCRIPTURES IMPRESS THIEF
AUBURN, N. Y. (UP)—The thief who broke into St. Alphonsus Church probably believes the Biblical quotation, "As ye sow so shall reap." He not only failed to find and money but cut his hand or leg on jagged glass of a window through which he fled.

Corn stalks sometimes are substituted for wood pulp in the manufacture of paper.

President, Party Visit
On Lake Crescent
During Night

DAM TO BE INSPECTED

Executive Expected to Hear Black Talk

MALTBYS TAVERN, LAKE
CRESCENT, Wash., Oct. 1—(UP)—

President Roosevelt headed East today toward Washington to confront the question of whether congress shall be summoned in special session and the problems created by charges that Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black holds a life membership in the Ku Klux Klan. The presidential party found retreat last night on the shore of Lake Crescent, a long lake lying near the coast of Washington's Olympic peninsula. Mr. Roosevelt came here after a mid-day visit to Victoria, British Columbia, in the role of American good neighbor.

Plans were uncertain today. The party may motor 231 miles to Tacoma to board the Roosevelt special or go by naval vessel to Seattle and take the train there, a much shorter trip.

To View Coulee Dam
Fair weather probably will persuade Mr. Roosevelt to go by motor. He is due tomorrow at Ephrata, Wash., where the party will leave the train for Grand Coulee dam, a gigantic power and river use project on the upper Columbia.

The president will reach Tacoma tonight at 6:30 p. m. and probably will have opportunity aboard his private car to hear Justice Black's radio broadcast.

The judiciary bill dispute and the aftermath of controversy aroused by Mr. Roosevelt's nomination of Justice Black will arise in Montana, home state of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, one of the Democrats who helped scuttle legislation to expand membership of the high bench.

Wheeler Watched
Wheeler may ignore Mr. Roosevelt's appearance in Montana or appear at the train-side, as did Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D., Wyoming, as a member of a welcoming committee. O'Mahoney had not been invited aboard the presidential special but was taken aboard in his role of welcoming citizen and to spend a somewhat frigid few hours in travel with the Roosevelt party but not with the president.

Mr. Roosevelt's feeling against Wheeler is believed to be similar to his attitude toward O'Mahoney.

STATE C. OF C. ASKS TEMPORARY AID FOR CITIES

COLUMBUS, Oct. 1—(UP)—The Ohio Chamber of Commerce today favored temporary state aid to assist municipalities in meeting the present relief situation, but reiterated its belief that the problem "continues to be a local responsibility."

The chamber passed a resolution which said that if such temporary aid is so extended, as contemplated in an approaching special session of the legislature, "the state should not go outside of anticipated balances in the general revenue fund and other funds which might be realized, for the balance of 1937, and that for the year 1938 the state should go no further in extending aid than the already allocated funds from the sales tax."

The chamber also favored a matching or fifty-fifty basis of allocating the relief funds, and expenditures to be made on a "pay-as-you-go basis."

Directors said they believed there are ample funds from existing sources of state revenue, without enactment of new taxes by the legislature to finance the state's share of the contributions.

OPEN LETTERS

TO BOARD OF EDUCATION

MEMBERS: The suggestion has been made that the saddle horse show in connection with the Pumpkin Show be held on the high school athletic field. Considering the type of horse show presented and the huge crowd it draws the athletic field is the ideal site for the show. Vacant lots near the field could be used for tents to stable the horses. The new lighting system would add tremendously to the event. Sufficient funds could be obtained through a small admission charge and the sale of programs to repair any damages to the field that might be caused during the event. The saddle horse show last year was comparable to those presented at state fairs. It will be even finer this year.

CIRCUITEER

TO COUNTY HEALTHERS

OFFICIALS: I read with interest the report of your activities of the last month in which you traveled nearly 1,500 miles and did much work which should assist Pickaway countians. Every school child in the county has been examined for physical deficiencies and all who are in need of care have been instructed to visit their physicians and dentists. Careful checks of the various schools may result in Pickaway county continuing without any epidemic of disease. The health of our boys and girls has been placed in your hands, and I urge you to take all precautions to safeguard it.

TO BUSINESSMEN

FRIENDS: It is surprising what can be accomplished if a group of businessmen organize to boost a civic program. The Stooze club wanted lights on the high school athletic field. A group of progressive businessmen formed an organization and gave notes for the improvement. The lights are up and Circleville can now boast of one of the best lighted and equipped high school fields in this part of the state. For many years businessmen have complained about the lighting system in the downtown district, but nothing has been done. Councilmen have mentioned the program several times, but no definite steps have been taken. The Retail Merchants Assn., the Chamber of Commerce, or both of them, should work out some program for lights in the business section and see that it is carried out. Fifty-one merchants supported Fall Fashion Revue Week. Those same merchants would support a civic improvement that they know would increase their sales and make Circleville a better shopping center.

CIRCUITEER

TO KINGSTON SCOUTS

YOUTHS: Other Boy Scout troops of the county are looking at your organization with envy since you have won the district flag again. The plaudits of all the boys of the county, though, go to you and to your scoutmaster for the swell job you have done in capturing the honor. The Kingston troop has been put up as an example to all the Circleville troops, and I hope your organization continues to merit the position in which it has been placed. The village of Kingston is, and should be, proud of its Boy Scouts. Similar organizations could be formed in many of Pickaway county's villages with boys and communities alike to reap benefit. Circleville is proud of the progress its troops have shown in recent months under able leadership.

TO SAFETY COMMITTEE

OFFICIALS: Since councilmen are considering various improvements for the safety of motorists, including a reflector sign at Pinckney and Scioto streets, and wig-wags at railroad crossings, they should make a study of the traffic lights. There are many intersections in the city that should be protected. Among these are Scioto and High streets, Watt and Pickaway, and Washington and Pickaway. Appeals have made for lights at these crossings, but they have been ignored. If records are closely checked officials will find there have been no traffic lights added to the city system in recent years.

CIRCUITEER

TO HIGHWAY OFFICIALS

GENTLEMEN: Two more persons were injured last Saturday in an auto crash at Routes 22 and 104, just west of Circleville. One of the drivers failed to observe the stop sign and was assessed a small fine. That intersection has a bad accident record and should be guarded with a traffic light, or some other precaution. Highway workers contend the signs are adequate. If that is true why do accidents continue to happen? It is impossible for a traffic officer to be stationed at the intersection at all times in an effort to conduct an educational campaign. It is time the highway department took some steps to safeguard the lives of motorists on those two busy routes. If signs fail to prevent accidents at the crossing some other type of warning should be installed.

TO POTATO GROWERS

FRIENDS: Very little interest was shown in the meeting called this week to discuss willingness of Pickaway countians to participate in a federal program to control the potato crop. Whether or not you are in favor of such a program, it behooves you to attend meetings called to talk about the federal plan. You can express your opinions either for or against a control plan. Your beliefs may go a long way toward determining the program finally enacted by the government, if an effort is made to put one into effect. While speaking of potatoes, I offer congratulations to Beryl Stevenson for the fine yield he reported this week. More than 400 bushels of potatoes in a single acre is a real crop.

World At A Glance

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

Although Uncle Sam's G-men are investigating stories of the existence of a formidable Nazi organization in the United States I cannot discover, from talks with numerous government officials, that these reports are taken very seriously, at least in Washington. Asinine speeches by Hitlerite leaders in Germany do give the impression that Nazi-dom in its native land is ambitious to gather under its banner folk of Teutonic descent throughout the world. It does not necessarily follow, however, that any considerable number of our so-called German-Americans are in line in sympathy with this campaign.

FEW IMMIGRANTS
 For one thing, few German immigrants have been arriving in the United States in approximately a generation. Most citizens of German extraction are sons or grandsons of original settlers on this side of the Atlantic and are as American, except for their inherited family names, as our Smiths, Joneses and Robinsons, our Johnsons and Andersons, our O'Connors and Mulligans and O'Neills.

ny of olden days. They were among the best liberty-lovers we had. They "fit mit Siegel" in the war of secession. They were the last kind of folk to have anything in common with the oppressions of the Nazi regime. That is the background of our Schmidts and Schwarzes and various "stein" families of today.

INTOLERANCE CYCLES
 It is true that this country is susceptible periodically to epidemics of intolerance. I recall four spells of it.

1. There was the immediately post-Civil war Ku Klux Klan. Perhaps there was an excuse for that. The south, maybe, had to have some sort of extra-governmental authority to deal with peculiar conditions of that era.
 2. There were the Know Nothings, a bit before my time. They were "anti" nearly everything. A one time Ohio senator, Allan G. Thurman, was identified with it. Later he was prominently mentioned as a presidential possibility. But, meanwhile, Know Nothingism had "busted." All rational voters turned thumbs down on anyone who ever had anything to do with Know Nothingism. So that finished Allan G.
 3. Then followed the American Protective association—anti-Catholic. It contended that, every time a Catholic child was born, a rifle was deposited in the basement of his family's parish church, in anticipation of a "Roman uprising."

 4. At last there was a revival, with no excuse whatever, of the earlier Ku Klux Klan. That was recent. We all know its history. It, also, fizzled.

NAZI TALK
 Now we have this Nazi talk. The Nazis, as we know, primarily are anti-Jewish; secondarily anti-Catholic. They have "blood purges". They have concentration camps. They talk like "idiot", wnen wouldn't matter, but that they're so dangerous also.

MERELY A PASSING PHASE
 It is to be expected that a philosophy like this would spread to a few in the United States—to the type of voters who supported the old and the new Ku Klux, the Know Nothings and the A. P. A. But, if it does gain a temporary foothold, I predict that it will not last long. It will go floozy presently, like the Know Nothings, the A. P. A. and the Ku Klux. I do not believe our so-called German-Americans are appreciably interested in it, either. Nor do I believe that it merits much investigation by our G-men. It is just a false alarm.

DEAD RECKONING

By BRUCE HAMILTON

COPYRIGHT BY BRUCE HAMILTON; RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:
 Tim Kennedy graduated into would-be homicide from the school of arm-chair murderers. With a lucrative dental practice and an enviable reputation in a small town near London, Tim at middle age, feels happy and secure. Then Esther, his own daughter, is stricken with a fatal illness. Tim, returning home weeks later a physical wreck, with all her former beauty and charm, is greatly attracted by Alma Shepherd, a widow and a new client. He maneuvers to win her to his arms. He assures her that he still loves her. He begins to see more and more of Alma. Tim's father now considers a friend of the family. Finally Tim is determined that Esther must die.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER 16

IT WAS ALL very well administered arsenic to a person, reasoned Tim as he planned his murder of Esther; then trusting the family doctor, either through lack of experience or timidity, to certify the cause of death as a trophic or some other intestinal complaint. It was true that such a method gave a reasonable chance of security.

But there was too much of a gamble about it—it was like backing an odds-on favorite in a race; a conservative, even cautious bet when a few pounds were at issue, madly reckless when the stakes were life and death. You could not rely on your doctor giving a certificate in so accommodating a fashion, and even if he did there were other potential sources of danger, nursing homes, relatives, gossip, busybodies, all capable of bringing about the final most dreadful threat of all—exhumation. It had happened so often. And then, since the primary concealment had been made, your case was nearly hopeless. You had no second line of withdrawal, you had knocked the ladder from under your own feet.

No—the ideal method required the complete absence of concealment, save only for the one vital factor. The necessity of lying, with all the hazards, contradictions, and inconsistencies that elaborate falsehood is liable to involve, must be cut down to a minimum. Esther must die a death whose nature must be clear and aboveboard from the beginning. There must be no medical doubts, no period of suspense made dreadful by the fear of discovery. The immediate cause of death must be admitted boldly and the events leading to it made so painfully clear by collateral evidence as to put out of court the fear that anyone would think it needful to investigate further.

And the medium must be poison. Firstly, because it was the most natural means for the circumstances he was devising; secondly, because the removal of the infection removed the risks of surreptitious purchase, for which no legitimate ground could be argued. He had only to choose wisely from the store of drugs of which he was in perfectly lawful possession—or better still, to use drugs that Dr. Arkwright had prescribed for his niece.

His plan, as finally worked out, was simplicity itself. But it had one prerequisite, the removal of all supervision over Esther's personal life, save only his own. The nurse would have to go. And now, in the most natural way, without an active step from himself, the excuse for dismissing her had been provided. He was not sending her away of his own will; in letting her go he was surrendering to pressure from others, against his own judgment.

A few days after his conversation with Dr. Arkwright he slept again with Esther. At the lay for long hours awake, while she turned in her restless, dream-haunted sleep, his purpose hardened.

A few brief conversations, spread over the following fortnight, will serve to indicate how Tim set about preparing the ground, and planting the seed.

"Would you like me to speak to her?"

In the field, their opponents knocking their bowling all over the place. In the late afternoon, as the shadow of the pavilion lengthened and crept toward the pitch, their own wickets fell fast, and it looked as if they were unlikely to last out to the agreed time for the drawing of the stumps.

With six wickets down the Reverend Doctor Grantley, a former Authentic, and for many years West Shilston's captain, came in—an imposing figure in his yellow-and-red striped cap, able, by sheer pride of bearing, to carry off an abdominal expanse that would have shattered the dignity in a lesser personage. An uncompromising and militant champion of orthodoxy, the rector held the fort for 20 minutes, like the Harrovian he was, left about out and chin in air; but at length he got down to earth too late for a ball that came through low, and was bowled. . . . But he had hit two or three fours on impeccably correct principles; in the pleasant afterglow of achievement he felt exhibitionistic, so, donning his blazer and muffler, he strolled out to where the Kennedys were sitting on deck chairs in front of the pavilion.

"Good knock, Mr. Grantley," said Tim, as he came up. "You had getting that shooter, just as you were settling down. Who is the bowler, do you know?"

"Anno Domini, my dear Kennedy," replied the rector sententiously, "Anno Domini. . . . It appears we lose."

"I'm afraid so."

"Yes. . . . You feeling more yourself these days, Mrs. Kennedy?"

"Yes, thank you, Mr. Grantley, much more."

"Excellent! . . . In that case I can scold you both—oh, very pretty, sir, very pretty!"

"You wanted to scold us?"

"Yes. . . . Young Carter shapes well, doesn't he? . . . Oh, yes, scold you. . . . I can't have my two best parishioners walking out on me without making a stand—I don't know how long it is since I've seen you in church. Oh, well, fielded, well fielded indeed, sir!"

"I'm afraid Esther doesn't often feel like church these days." Tim grinned. "I suppose you're quite incorruptible—I can't square you."

The rector fingered his chin. "Well, the church restoration fund is dragging rather. Perhaps

DIET AND HEALTH

Why Soy Bean Flour Is Valuable as Food

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
 I PREDICT that the soy bean, which has long been used in the Orient, will become in the near future a widely used flour.

The flour is higher in protein and much lower in starch content than other flours and is, therefore, suitable as a bread substitute for diabetics and overweight people on a reducing diet.

Its proteins are similar to those of animal food, so that it can be used as a meat substitute. I have had within the last week a breakfast at which soy bacon was served, and can aver that it makes a good substitute.

It has been suggested as a substitute for milk for infants with eczema, who are sensitive to cow's milk. It reduces in the body to an alkaline ash, so that it is suitable for those who need to get over on the alkaline side. It is thus a valuable ingredient of a basic diet for high blood pressure and similar states.

The Chinese make a highly salted cheese with soy bean flour, known as Chinese Roquefort, which can be found in Chinese restaurants. It goes well with salads, vegetables, etc. Soy bean sauce, or gravy, on account of the high fat content of the flour, is a favorite.

Protein Content Interesting
 The protein content of soy is interesting. Some proteins are better than others. Animal protein, in general, is more complete and more digestible than vegetable protein. Chemists, in pulling the big protein molecule apart, much in the same fashion that it is pulled apart by digestive processes, have found that about 20 substances, all falling into the class called amino acids, are linked together to make up what we call protein. Not all of these amino acids are found in one protein necessarily, and not all are necessary for human health and nutrition. But a good protein should have four: lysine, cystine, histidine and tryptophane. And the soy bean has all four.

Leicithin, a valuable nutritive element of any food, is a nitrogenous fatty substance found in egg yolk, butter, and is widespread in the tissues of the body. Soy beans contain more leicithin than any other plant.

You're Telling Me!

THE JAPANESE language, we are told, is one of the most difficult to understand. But it's simple as pie compared to their actions.

The smart husband tells his wife he thinks the new autumn hats are very sensible. Then she won't buy any.

A college professor says fish that are caught shrink in size after being landed. Fair enough—we notice those that aren't caught get larger and larger.

Germans must wear shirts two inches shorter to save cloth. It would be smart to cut all other Germans down two inches. Then, not only would cloth be saved but Hitler would look like a bigger man.

Irish fishermen report sighting a merman. Unfortunately they forgot to ask him if he'd seen anything of a pirate submarine.

If Adolf returns Mussolini's visit you can be sure Il Duce will give him his finest frown of welcome.

After glancing at the standings in the American and National leagues it strikes us that a real "subway" series would be a contest between the two Philadelphia teams.

Sports Coat
In Fur Fine
For College

THERE is no fur that is smarter or more youthful for sports wear than baronduki. Dorothy Moore, young movie picture player, wears a coat of this fur in a model that would be an excellent choice for the college girl. It is made with a little stand-up collar and notched lapels, and is belted across the back, achieving a yoke effect which is very good style for this year. Miss Moore is wearing beneath her fur coat a navy wool sports dress, the top pencil-striped in silver.

Greeno, "No Disappointments in Heaven." Miss Nellie Denman played the piano. Solo, "Sometime, Somewhere," was sung by Mrs. Vernon Hawkes. Readings were given by Mrs. James Trimmer and Mrs. Iley Greeno. The program was closed with a duet, "He Knows," by Mrs. Hegele and Mrs. Greeno. The Rev. Mr. Harper read a birthday poem and an informal celebration was held honoring Mrs. Morris, president of the society, on her birthday anniversary. A delightful lunch was served in the dining room, the tea table being decorated in rose and green and centered with a large birthday cake. During the social hour, Mrs. E. S. Neuding on behalf of the members of group No. 2, presented Mrs. Morris a flower bowl filled with narcissus bulbs. Thirty-five members and visitors were present for the pleasant afternoon.

STOP ROOF LEAKS
Asbestos liquid roof coating for metal composition roofs. One coat of our Asbestos roof coating, properly applied, will form a new surface right over the old roof. It makes no difference what the roof is made of—paper, felt, composition, gravel or metal and even the weather worn and leaking. No expensive labor, no tearing up the old roof—it spreads right on top of the old material and any inexperienced person using a little care and following out the direction, can efficiently do this work. When properly applied, it stops all leaks, seals every crack, crevice and joint, highly preservative coating that will defy rain, snow, ice, and all weather conditions. The oil used resaturates and penetrates into old dried out composition roofing, renewing its life, bringing back its flexible waterproof qualities.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

SHOW ANOTHER SUIT
IT IS NEARLY always a mistake to raise or show a fit for your partner's minor suit if you can bid any other four-card or longer suit. This is because there are so few deals on which 5-odd can be made, whereas there are many on which 4-odd can be made in a suit contract or 3-odd at no trump. Even if the suit you bid in response contains the weakest kind of no trump stoppers, it may be the key to reach a safe no trump game contract.

Tomorrow's Problem

Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.

South began the bidding on this deal with 1-Club, which West overcalled with 1-Heart. North thereupon bid 2-Clubs and South 3-Clubs, which West passed. North still had a chance to correct his early error by bidding 3-Diamonds at this stage, but he raised the 3-Clubs to 4-Clubs instead and South could do nothing but take the contract to 5-Clubs. It is easy to see that this was defeated with the loss of two tricks in diamonds and one in hearts.

North's right bid after the 1-Club by his partner and 1-Heart by West was not 2-Clubs but 2-Diamonds, as that suit contained satisfactory no trump stoppers. If South happened to have the hostile hearts stopped, he then could go into no trumps, which he obviously would have done here. If West made the natural lead of a heart against this, South could have scored 4-No Trumps with ease.

Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.

If West leads the diamond queen to the king against 3-No Trumps, South then running four spades and three hearts, what discards should West make in order to defeat a lead-throwing end-play by South?

Give occasional inspection to the casters on your furniture. They may be tearing holes in your rugs because they are broken or worn.

ADOGA COMPANY COMPLETES PACK OF CORN; PUMPKINS COME NEXT

FLOODS AND HOT WEATHER HURT DISTRICT'S CROP

125 Employed in Circleville
On Red Kidney Bean and Hominy Work

OTHER PLANTS ACTIVE

3,000 Acres of Tomatoes
Handled in Indiana

The Ladoga Canning Co., successor to the Sears & Nichols corporation, has completed its canning operations on sweet corn and lima beans.

Early prospects for a bumper crop of sweet corn did not materialize, according to Evan Reichelderfer, Chillicothe, Ohio superintendent for the company. The wet summer resulted in surface rooting of the corn and the dry hot weather in August fired the stalks and reduced the crop over forty percent. In addition to this the company lost over 200 acres of contracted sweet corn in the late rise of the Scioto river and its tributaries. Continued rains following the flood prevented growers from replanting any but a very small portion of this acreage.

While the sweet corn crop was only about 50 percent of normal, taking into consideration the flood loss, the quality was very good, particularly on the earlier plantings.

The production on lima beans was about sixty percent of normal. The company packs at Chillicothe, Ohio, of which there was an unusually large yield this season, white and golden corn, succotash, green lima beans, and pumpkin.

The company is now receiving pumpkins from the farmers and expects to begin these Monday, Oct. 4. Last year over 2,000 tons of pumpkins were packed at Chillicothe, but the crop this year has suffered the same as corn and the company is planning to pack something less than 1,000 tons.

During the rush of the canning season on peas and corn over 300 persons were employed. About 100 will be needed for the pumpkin pack which will last throughout October.

The Circleville plant, also operated by the Ladoga Canning Company, is busy at this time packing pork and beans, red kidney beans and hominy. About 125 are employed here.

The company also operates plants at Ladoga, Lebanon, and Brookston, Indiana and Mound City, Illinois. Over 3,000 acres of tomatoes are being handled in Indiana. Most of the product is going into tomato juice and tomato puree.

Reports from Indiana are that the tomato and corn crops are about 70 percent of normal.
